The Habit of Saving.

Children who have a little money ought to practice saving something. Many boys and girls of to-day hardly know a higher use for money than comes into their hands than spending it for some foolish thing as quickly as possible. To such, a lesson in self-denial and economy is very important. As go the boy's pennies and dimes, so, very likely, will go the man's dollars and hundreds by and by. Without having the spirit of a miser, the person accustomed to save has more pleasure in laying up than a spendthrift ever knows.

The way to keep money is to earn it fairly and honestly. Money so obtained is pretty sure to abide with its possessor. But money that is inherited, or that in any way comes without a fair and just equivalent, is almost certain to go as it came. The young man who begins by saving a few dollars a month and thrifty increases his store every coin being a representative of good, solid work, honestly and manfully done—lands a better chance to spend the last half of his life in affluence and comfort than he who, in his haste to become rich, obtains money by dashing speculations, or the devious means which abound in the foggy region lying between fair dealing and actual fraud. Among the wisest and most thrifty men of wealth, the current proverb is: "Money goes as it comes." Let the young make a note of this, and see that their money comes fairly, that it may last abide with them.

The restraining grace of common sense is the mark of all the valid minds; the common sense which does not meddle with the absolute, but takes things at their word—things as they appear.—Emerson.

Obituary.

The Lady Managers of the Bloomfield Auxiliary of the Newark Orphan Asylum were unanimous in their approval of the following resolutions:

Resolved, In the mysterious Providence of God, we have been called upon to mourn the loss of Mary E. W. Moss, an honored Manager and faithful co-worker in our Society. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That during the seven years she was associated with the Society she had endeavored herself to us by her many Christian virtues—her earnest, cheerful, just, and generous assistance. Although we deplore the loss her death has occasioned, and sorrow for her as a dear friend, whose absence we shall always feel;

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the afflicted family who are bereaved of a true, loving wife, a dutiful, comforting daughter, a kind, tender, and devoted mother and sister. And we earnestly pray that the everlasting arms of Him who does not willingly afflict his children will be around them to comfort them in this their trying hour;

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered by the Secretary on the minutes of the Society, and a copy of the same be sent to the family;

Resolved, That the Managers attend the funeral; and

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN.

MRS. J. A. HEDDEN, Secretary.

Mr. Augustus Cornwall died at his residence in the city of New York on Monday night the 21st inst., and was buried in Bloomfield on Thursday afternoon the funeral services being held in the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Cornwall was born in Greene County, N. Y., about 1830, his father being a prominent citizen of that part of the State. He studied law and was admitted to the Bar of New York at an early age, and for some years was engaged in the practice of his profession in Greene County. He afterward removed to Rock Island in the State of Illinois, where he followed his profession for some years, finally coming to the city of New York. He removed his residence to Bloomfield about the year 1860, and continued to reside here until a few years ago, when he returned to New York.

During his residence in Bloomfield, and in the period of the War of the Rebellion, Mr. Cornwall was a most active supporter of the Government and of the Republican party, to whose principles he was devotedly attached.

For the past eight or ten years he had been connected with the Custom House in New York, where his services had been both laborious and responsible. Mr. Cornwall was a gentleman of refined feelings, with great kindness of heart and manner; his integrity and honor were never questioned, and he enjoyed and received the cordial respect and confidence of all with whom he came in contact.

While living at Catskill he married Miss Catherine Judd, a daughter of Rev. Dr. Gideon J. Judd, formerly pastor of the First Church of Bloomfield. His widow and two children survive him.

His only son Frederick is a resident of Chicago, and his daughter Kate is the wife of Mr. Laubers in the same place. A sister of Mr. Cornwall was the wife of Hon. Lyman Tremaine, of Albany, N. Y.

Anniversary of the Baptist Sunday-school.

On Sunday evening last the Sabbath-school celebrated its thirty-first anniversary. The occasion, as in years past, called out the school and its friends in large numbers, and the church was filled in every part. The platform was decorated with flowers gathered by the scholars, and arranged to form a bed extending across the front, presenting a fine appearance, which was enhanced by two beautiful palm trees, loaned for the occasion by Mr. John Rassbach. The exercises were entered into with spirit by the scholars. A concert exercise on the Lord's Prayer was given, in which scholars in all the departments engaged. The spirit throughout was reverential and in harmony with the subject.

The report of the Secretary, Mr. Henry S. Rassbach, contained many items of interest and a careful table of statistics. Rev. J. D. Simons, Pastor, and Rev. H. F. Smith and Rev. W. F. Stubbert, former pastors, occupied seats on the platform. This alone to many was a pleasant reminder of years past in Church and Sunday-school work. The address of Rev. H. F. Smith was very happy in thought and suggestive in prayer, at the close of which a collection ($75) was taken up and added to the library fund, which now reaches $250.

The school is in good condition and much encouraged, and enters upon a new year with increased zeal.

The officers are: Frank B. Stone, Supt. Geo. P. Farmer, Asst. Supt. Henry S. Rassbach, Sec. and Treas. E. N. Williamson, Librarians. Seymour E. Gilbert, Librarians.

A well organized Missionary Society is at work in connection with the school, the amount raised and distributed last year being $280.

A Scriptural Dinner.

A number of Brooklyn preachers were once entertained by Rev. W. F. Crafts. There was a Scriptural menu at each plate, which read as follows: "What we shall eat and what we shall drink." "Spread a cloth and put thereon the dishes and the spoons and the bowls and the bread." Numbers 11: 5. "Bitter Herb." Ex. 12: 8. "Olives." Mt. 6: 15. "Hunks." Luke 15: 16. Dessert, mish mish, "Apples of gold." Confections, damascene. Drinks, water, Judges 4: 19. Sherbet, coffee. There was a waitress dressed as a woman of Athens, and another dressed as a Roman woman. There was also a man servant dressed in a Joseph's coat of many colors. Mish mish is composed of rice and apricots. Damascene is a confection of figs, raisins, walnuts, and almonds chopped up and pressed. The sherbet was made of orange juice and attar of roses.

"There are two things," remarked a shrewd old lady, "which, no matter how you look, the world will never dispute you on. One is putting your age up high, and the other is setting your capacity down low."

THE DREAMER BY DAYLIGHT.

(FOR THE BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN.)

As to Perfect Days.

There are days to which the grateful memory gladly returns—days which are like the old nest in the old tree to the bird which revisits his loved forest shade. In such days the mind brooded and rested. Then were born dear and delightful hopes. Heaven was serene above us, and all earth lay at our feet in peace. Down the long glades of the wood the light fell in slanting golden lines. The hum of insects faintly broke upon the ear. A brook sang softly to the pebbles as it passed them by—a happy heart sings to the obstacles which it brightens even whilst it overcomes them.

Such was the day when the Dreamer—all alone in the wood with his good stick in his hand—sat down upon a log and was grateful for the privilege of living in God's world. He was idle, and in his idleness he had a supreme satisfaction. This broken bit of rock that he pushed with his hand to the corner that had been shattered from some great creation temple. Its veins were full of dead days and mangled ages. Now the moss had climbed upon it, and the lichen was clothing it. He had lifted it, he disturbed myriads of tiny inhabitants, whose palace roof he had taken away. So he put it back again over them and sat still.

Wait! wait! he called, calling so lonesomely through the silence! Yes, and there he is—a flash of flame against the green leaves of yonder maple; now on one side and now on another goes his head—up! little dipper and gymnast that he is. His part, quick, motions are like his keen restless black beads of eyes. And what would you do for it, my mortal man, if you, like a bird or a horse, could only see out of one side of your head at once, and must needs twist and curve and focus, now this and now that optic, upon your fellow biped or quadruped.

Now then he is off—swift as a glance of the mind. He has left behind him a gray squirrel who plays hide and seek about the trunk of the tree. And after him comes another of Noah's lost crew, a rabbit or perhaps a slow-moving tortoise. Everything is as part and bright and full of the warm spirit as if it had spirit had undressed itself from the body of the heavenly bird, where every star that went by sent thrills of new life through the association.

By order of the Association. FRANK G. TOWELL, Secretary pro tem.
